AN OLD PARTY QUESTION

thoroughly versad by experience in the listor-cal teness of the democratic party. In this way we may account for his statement that the doc-trine of internal improvements by the general government does not conflict with the principles of state-rights democracy. Yet if he was proughlup a whig he ought to remember that this was the main point of dispute for thirty to forty years between the wing and democratic parties Down to the outbreak of the civil war the democratic party stodity and resolutely de-nied the right of congress to appropriate money for public works. It was unconstitutional, it was the way to centralization. Since this party now admits that congress, having rightful con-trol of commerce, may appropriate and ought to appropriate money to facilitate it, by ligging out our buys, creeks and evers, and may even go further and appropriets money for relief of persons suffering by floods, drouths and earth-quakes, it is plain that the party has made a de-parture from its oft creed, that its adderents parture from its oil creed, that its adherents have become willing to accept the tendency to "centralization" which was their ancient dread, in consideration of the benefits that flow from it cannot make any difference, though dov Pennoyer seems to suppose the putrary, whether the money got by the general government for these large appropriations throughout the Union is obtained by one kind of tax or another The main fact is that such a policy teach es the prople to look to the central greatment for benefits, and thereby increases national power? Here was the very pone of the old democratic argument against this policy. It was asserted that such a policy was calculated to as dermine the rights of the states and augment the anthor-ity and nower of the federal government, that i the simple power granted by the constitut on to regulate complet e between the sales this vest power of using the public revenues for local work was not unemplot, and that exercise of such newer would tend rupilly to absorption by the general go eroment of the rese ved rights and functions of he states So powerrights and indended to states e power-fully die bedemoer the party resign thus policy of internal improvements that, prior to the great war, no general river as d batter bill became a law President Pierce, in 1804 veloud a river and harder bill, placing his objections thereto on the 'old and time-honored democrata prin-ciples' By the great swill and long off of nationa principles since 1860 Cov Peanneys, as well as his party in general, has been carried further out inpon the broad ocean of national sentiment and usage than he or it is awara of

A citizen of Eastern Oregon in a private letter to the editor expresses surprise and wonder that the railroads 'always manage not only to get their measures through the legis ature, but to defeat all propositions in the interest of the peo-To those who have any real knowledge of legislative methods, or of common business methods, there is in this fact no wonder at all.

The men in the legislature who stand for the railronds are selected not by accident but because they have special fitness for the business in hand. They have usually both legislative sources within themselves to meet any en mency hair may arise. Furthermore, they know definite y what they want and in case of a fight what concessions they can make without real loss.

The men who represent "the interests of the people," on the other hand, come to the leg-islature full of good intentions but without any plan of operations and without the special knowledge upon which a reasonable plan can be based for example, Mr. Biggs, of Wasse-county, acting, as be supplesed, in the 'interests of the pe ple,' proposed a bill fixing a maxinum freight rate junder which the ratironds could not have lived I, was almost as unreas-onable in its requi ements as would be a law compelling grocers to dell sugar, sait, tiour and coffee and all other commodities at a fixed and butter price per bound. altering its purpose) if he had not preferred in stead to defeat the Umatilla county d vision bill. The lesson isplain. The people must send men to the legislature who know enough about rail road management to propose practice measures men who have tact and skill enough to make concessions and still preserve essentials, men of force enough to organize and soutrol the anti-monopoly and anti-ring elements in the leg islature, men of sufficient moral purpose to stand firmly by their colors under all direum stances, and until this is done their will be no tegislation that will control the rattroads. It is ev dent that the platform adopted by the national labor convention at Gine month is the work of Henry George Of his authorship the utoplangten of the document is sufficient proof The idea that underlies it is this, namely, that The loca that underlies it is this, namely, that the individual can do nothing for laimself, but must become a defendent of government, eluking his individuality in the mirrows of communism "Every human being," we are gravely told, "possesses a natural, inalienable right to sufficient land for self-support," but is not stated how much land is to be regarded as sufficient for this purpose, nor how it is to be decided whether "every human being" is working his land to best advantage, so he may get the meetout of it and be limited to his proper share, nor how the multifarious industries and share, nor how the multifarious industries an subject from the innitiations industries and support from the land to which he has a natoral, unalienable right. Again, there is a perpose to "secure to every industrious citizen a home, as the highest result of free tastitutions." But every industrious citizen has that home now, or may have it, and the greater the number of industrious citizens who start in to accommon quire homee on their own account, and let these "reformers" alone, the more, we may be sure will have homes in the end. It is further set forth that government must lend money to needy citizens, that hours of wage labor mushe reduced—though but just now every human being was to get his support from the land to which he has a natural, inallemble right that employers are prohibited from engaging men to defend their property and business against mon violence, and much more in the same stalin. Gov Pennoyer has very properly velocal senate bill 59, providing for compulsory education of children, and senate bill 37, providing for publichildren, and senate bill 37, providing for publication of supreme court reports. The fortner was especially objectionable, since its enforcement would be impressible in some cases, a bardship in others and always an infringemen of personal rights. The legislature would never have passed the bill if it had been thoroughly undersond, and the people would never have submitted to its requirements. The action of the governor sluply keeps a deal letter from the slatute books. Against the bill for publication of supreme court reports there were fewer objections but quite enough to suspin the veto. objections but quite enough to sustain the veto.

It is satisfactory to record the fact that the pauper pension bill is dead. An similar bill ought ever to have public countenance Aiready the pension laws are liberal and just, and congress is every ready to grant special pensions to deserving persons who cannot come in under the general law

Mrs. Duniway gives notice this week through the columns of the New Northwest hat her con-nection with that paper, to which she has been a contributor since the sale of it to the present proprietors, has entirely ceased.

Mr. Siglin, of the democratic contogent, is going to Washington, where he has the promise (through his patron Mitchell) of a place in the pension office. This is to be his reward for "standing in "

The governor has permitted the insurance and militia bills to become laws by limitation and without his approval This clears his table of legiciative business.

ST HELENS, Feb 24 1887
TO THE EDGEOR OF THE OFFICENCY AND YOU ISSUE OF TO-day contians the following neat

Your issue of to-day contains the following meat little pull.

There was one committing chairman in the legile sturn-just one we believe—whose sense of public duty was such that he could not think it right to compley a clerk for thirty days to do three days work. Pomeroy of Columbia was the man, He deserves credit also as an industrious and capable representative of the interests of his county.

Will you gllow me to ask, What sort of economy is it that saves the pittance of a clerk's wages and introduces a bill to appropriate $500 for the construction of a wingon road from Till smook bay to Chicksante landing. Another economical act of Mr. (omeroy was the attempt to ruise the salaries of the county judge and treasurer of this powerty sticken county. This latter measure if put to a variety of the county are the pieces as to whether they have been counted that the control of the c new will affect them, and they are inclined to believe that they will not be able to able the product of the Rocky mountains. The O. B. & N. and Short Line made a rate last rear that hardly paid for fuel and oil, to say nothing of wear and tear. Notwithstanding the rate was so low, an alwance of 50 cents per 1669 feet on a 2000 mile hard would have shut Pottland oct of Colorado, Nebrasha and Rah. It is impossible for Portland mill men to make coluracts now for future delivery, because existen men are absolutely ignorant of what the effect of the new law will be, and the best informed railway officials are afraid to offer any opinion on the matter of rates. It will be a big regist when the commission gets to work, provided they are not burdened with more applications in one day than they can dispose off in a month, which many think will be the ease.

Struck it Rich.—Mr. V. D. Williamson, one of the owners of the celebrated Treasure Boomine, Court d'Alene, is in the city, and yesterday showed to an Ohrgonian reporter a number of very nich specimens of gold bearing quartz from this celebrated mine, while it considered the richest in that section. They began to take out rich rock on the 16th of Docember last, and since that time having from 600 pounds of rock, by the aid of hane mortars alone, taken 316,000 worth of gold. They have seventy tone of ore on the dump, which is being worked by an arrastra, and which will yield all the way from $500 to $1000 per ton. Some of the rock is so rich that sighty ounces of gold have been pounded out in two hurs; and with two hand martars 111 ounces were secured in one day. They are running that stroot breast on the lock and from the length botween two sets of timbers, four feet, has been taken out since Mr. Williamson left, 300 ounces of gold. A promising looking place of rock, on being troken open, was found to contain a nurget weighing 27% ounces, and another yielded 22% odness. There is richness for you, and there is a fift prospect that the lode may be richer the farther it is worked. Mr. Williamson le an Oregonian and formenty attended business college in this city.

Forty New State Orelones.—The last leg-

FAACTLY IN POINT. The letter we print from "Dr. E. A. Jones. The letter we prict from "Dr. E. A. Jones, hate Captain Company F; Eleventh Ragiment, Marchard Volunteers," we characterize as "extraordinar;" not because of its peculiar literary style, but because it is written, though unconsciously, in that same mercenary and mendicant spirit against which Thr Obejonian's protest was made. That the writer bimeelf did good service, which may deserve a pension, we are not unemared for question, but early man are not prepared to question; but every man disabled by wounds received in the war may obtain a pension under present laws. So may the poor mother of the drammer boy who fell at Monocacy. What is remarkable in the letter is he cool assumption of the writer that feasingth day men thereenaries; it referred to them truthfully as men who as a rule never saw any legitimate military service that capital them to be placed on an equal footing with veterans of long service at the front, tren. Wallace commanded Baltimore, a place that would not naturally be exposed to atlack. Early's unexpected rush pu

Washington while Hunter was absent in West
Virging, toreed the simplement, not only of vacating to while Hunter was assent an West Virginia, forced the simpleyment not only iof the 100-day men at Baltimore, but the arming of the non-collated clerks of the departments at Washington, who manned its defences until the arrival of the first and second divisions of the sixth corps. But the forces who fought Early at the battle of the Monocacy and thus gained a day for Gen. Wright to reach and reacus Washington, were not "mostly 100-day men." Liey were meelly composed of the veteran third division of the Sixth army corps, under Gen. James Dallatte, which she had directed. B. Ricketts, which had been dispatched to Butimore by Grant. There was a detachment of 160-day men, but the lower in killed and wound-ed, amounting to 670, feel, thislight on Rickptte's command. The missing were 1220, and presumcommand. The meaning were 1230, and presum-ably were chieff; 100-day mer, as Ricketts's veterans cid all the fighting of consequence done that day. Wallace had also under his command-at Monocacy the veteran garrison of Harper's Ferry uncer Sigel, and these, with Bicketts's drvision of the Sixth corns, were the real fighting forces at the battle of the Monocacy, but the 100-day emergency men served to swell the list of missing rather than the list of killed and We have no doubt there were exceptional in-

We have no doubt there were exceptional instances, when 90-day and 100-day men were suddenly and messpeciadly summoned inder fire, but 19 per cent. of 90-day and 100-day men never caw a fight; and the exceptions, like Capt. Jones only remind us of facts that prode the rule. We cannot agree with Capt. Jones that any man who served one day in rating or bomby around raph; to be entitled to the benefits of a sweeping pauper pension act, the same as if he had served three years at the knost, and it is the very lack of discrimination between worky and very lack of discrimination between worthy and inworthy referans that condemns the bill vetoed by the president. There is no difficulty for any man, whether his service was short or long, who really incurred disability by wounds or disease in service, in getting a pension under the pierent law, for, even if rejected by the pention bureau, congress is promut to pass special pension acts for overy deserving sold er. But the bill now under consideration opens the door to a mod of hungry fellows, nine-leults of whom have, at present; up moral, much less legal clain to a pension.

AN OLD PARTY QUESTION.

Gov. Pennoyer's early education and associa-tions were whig, as old citizens of Oregon re-member; consequently bis democratic affiliamemoer; consequency his democratic annia-tions cane too late in life to permit him to be thoroughly versed by experience in the histori-cal tenes of the democratic party. In this way we may account for he statement that the doc-trine of internal improvements by the general government does not conflict with the principle of state-rights democracy. Yet if he was brought up a whig he oright to semember that this was the main point of dispute for binty of forty years between the whig and democratic parties. Down to the outbreak of the civil war parties. Down to the displace of the ferm war the democratic party stouting and resolutely denied the right of congress to appropriate money for public works. It was unconstitutional; it was the way to centralization. Since this party now admits that congress, having rightful conbow minute increase any appropriate and ought to appropriate money to facilitate it, by digging our lars, creaks and rivers, and may even go further and appropriate money for relief of persons affering by floods, drouthe and earliquakes, it is plain that the party has made a departure from its old treed; that its adherents parties from as our crees; that its amorane have become willing to accept the tendency to "centralization" which was their ancient dread, in consideration of the Lenglis, that flow from heavy appropriations.

As to the centralizing fendency of this policy, it cannot make any difference, the 19th Gov.

Pennoye: seems to suppose the contrary, whether the money got by the general government for these large expensions there there is no supposed. nent for these large appropriations throughout the Union is obtained by one kind of tax or apother. The main fact in that such a policy teaches the people to look to the central government for benefit, and thereby increases authoral power! Here was the very core of the old democratic s policy. It was asserted that such a policy was calculated to undermine the rights of the states and augment the author-ity and power of the federal government; that in the simple power granted by the constitution to regulate commerce between the states this east power of using the public revenues for local work was not included, and that exarche rights at d functions of the states. So power-fully did the democratic party resist this pollcy of internal improvements that, prior to the great war, no general river and haroor bili became a law. President Pierce, in 1854, vetoel a river and harbor bill, placing his objections thereto on the "eld and time-honored democratic principles." By the great swell and long roll of national principles since 1560 (for. Pennoper, as well as his party in general, has been carried further out upon the broad deean of national sentiment and usage than he or it is

l citizen of Eastern Oregon in a private letter to the editor expresses surprise and wonder that the railreads "always manage incl. only to get their measures through the legislature, but to defeat all-propositions in the interest of the peo-ple." To those who have any real knowledge ple," To those who have any the of legislative methods, or of common business in this fact no wonder at a thods, there is in this fact no wonder at all. The men in the legislature who stand for the railronds are selected not by accident but be-cause they have special fitness for the business in hand. They have sugally both legislative and business experience, and are full of resources within themselves to meet any amergency that may arise. Furthermore, they know definitely what they want and in case of a fight what concessions they can make without real

The men who represent the interests of the people," on the other hand, come to the legislature full of good intentions but without any plan of operations and without the special knowledge upon which a reasonable plan can be based. For example, Mr. Biggs, of Wasco county, acting, as he supposed, in the "interests of the people," proposed a bill fixing a maximum freight rate under which the milroads connection measurements are would be a like compelling grocers to sell sugar, salt, four and coffee and all other commodities at a fixed and this messure and in its fall it carried the prin capable man, with: a reasonable bit involving the principle of a maximum rate rightly applied had made the effort made by Mr. Biggs, he could have succeeded. Mr. Wager could unquestionably have paged his bill (with autendments not altering its purpose) if he had not preferred histeat to defeat the Dualilla county division bill.

The lesson is plain. The people mus send men to the legislature who know enough about rainced management to propose practical measures, men who have tact and skill enough to make concessions and still preserve essentials, men of force enough to organize and control the anti-monopoly and anti-ring elements in the legislature, men of sufficient moral purposa to stand fumly by their culors under all circumstances, and until this is done there will be no legislation that will control the rallroads. In legislation, as in every other species of human enterprise, the first requisite is a definite pur-pose. Without it nothing can be done. And is sequelly important that this purpose should be the cool assumption of the writer that inaxmuch as the government is able to pension all its soldiers, and inaxmuch as wholesale stealing is goon to be soldier abculd have his opportunity also, on the ground that to the victor belongs the spoils. There is every reason to protest, in the name of patriotism and morality, against this assumption. It dishoners the soldiers and dishonors the country.

The Orrect value of the protection of the product within the bounds of reason and practicability.

It is an dent that the platform adopted by the national labor convention at Cincinnati is the work of Henry George. Of his authorship the utoplantism of the document is sufficient proct. The idea that underlies it is this, us maly, that The idea that underlies it is this, namely, that the individual can do nothing for himself, but must become a defendant or gevenment, sinking his individuality in the nivana picommunism. "Every human being," we are gravely told, "possesses a natural, inalienable right to sufficient land for self-support;" but it is not stated how much land is to be regarded as sufficient for this purpose; nor how it is to the decided whether "every human being" is working his land to best advantage, so he may get the most out of it and be limited to his proper share; nor how the multifations industries and share; nor how the multifarious industries and support from the land to which he has a rator your from the famile which there is a pur-pose to "scure to every industrious citizen a home, as the highest result of free in itutions!" But every industrious citizen has that beme now, or may have it; and the greater the number of industrious citizens who start in to acquire homes on their own account, and let these "reformers" alons, the more, we may be sure, will have homes in the end. It is further set forth that government must control the ruli ways, that government must isind money to needy citizens; that hours of wage labor must be reduced—though, but just now every human being was to get his support from the land to which he has a natural, indicueble right; that employers are prohibited from engaging med to defend their property and business against not ber of industrious citizens who start in to ac de end their property and business against mob vicience, and much more in the same strain. No doubt there are those to whom all this will appear wise; but these persons are no considerable part of the American people.

Gov, Pennoyer has very properly ve oed senate bill 59, providing for compulsory ecucation of children, and senate till 37, providing for publich ldren, and senate bill 37, providing for publication, of supreme court reports. The former was especially objectionable, since its enforcement would be impossible in aoms cases, a bardship in others and always an in ringement of personal rights. The legislature would never have passed the ibill if it had been thoroughly understood, and the people would never have enunitted to its requirements. The action of the governor simply keeps a dead letter from the staute books. Against the bill for publication of supreme dour reports there were fewer objections, but quite enough to suste in the veto. Objections, but quite enough to sustain the veto-

It is satisfactory to record the fact that the pauper pension bill is dead. No similar bill ought ever to have public countenance. Already the pension laws are ilberal and just, and congress is every ready to grant special pensions to deserving persons who cannot come in under the general law.

There was no committies chairman in the legislature—just one, we believe—whole scuse of visbile duty was such that he could not think it right to employ a clerk for thirty days to do threa days' work. Pomercy of Columbia was the man. He deserves credit also as an industrious and capable representative of the interests of his county.

Will you allow me to sek. What sort of economy is it that saves the pittance of a clerk's wages and introduces a bill to appropriate $500 for the construction of a wageh road from Tillamooktoby to Claikkanie landing? Another economical act of Mr. Pomercy was the atterpt to raise the salaries of the county judge and bransurer of this poverty-stricker county. The Street Car Roerray.—Peter Failing is the name of the street car driver who was rebbed late Tuesday night at Twenty-first and B, While he was unhitching his horses and stooping down, two masked men poked two brandnew revolvers under his ness, demanding him to hand over his sach. Failing at first remonstrated, but the enemy outnumbered him and one of the robbers weat through his pockets, out of which he got some $28. There was a third man standing on the sidewalk a few feet from where the "obbery was committed, and he was most likely one of the party, because he made no sign to assix Failing when he called for aid. When the robbers released him he ran to a neighboring ho see, but failed to arouse any one therein. There he ran along to meet the next up-bound car, expecting the driver to be armed. The driver was also without a weapon, and feeling indisposed to be surjected to the treatment his comrade had received did not proceed to the terminue of the line, but the two drove to the car stables on Fourteenth street. There they apprised the superintendent and secretary of Failing's experience, and the four tren started for the scope of the robbers had forced the cash box of the car, taking the loose change it contained. The fellows threw away helt masks, which are made of black materias, and are now in the superintendent's edite.

How to Comment a thermometree.—Speaking of the diversity of cpinion in regard to how tow the thermometer has gone here and which has been the coldest winter known in the history of the country, and all that sort of thing, signal Service Officer Grase says the difference of opinion is caused by incorrect thermometers. Very few of the cheap thermometers of reale are correct, but it is only a few minutes work to ascertain where and bow much aboy err. Some will give correct peadings up to a certain hight and then run will, while others are a degree or two off from top to bottom. The method of aspertaining whether a thermometer is correct or not is very simple, especially at present, when melling snow can be found in every shady spot. Of course it is necksary to have a correct thermometer to make domparisons with. Take a vessel of melling snow and place the thermometer in it and the correct one will mark 32 degrees. Then add warm water gradually and raise the merchry up the scale. At every 5 or 10 degrees note the difference, if at y, on a card and place this card along de the thermometer necks the difference, if at y, on a card and place the ecorrection. To make corrections below 32 take the two thermometers and start for Dakota. As you grogrees on your necks which needs the correction. To make corrections below 32 take the two thermometers and the variation must be united till your in jers get so numb you can no longer mike figures. Below they down and the variation must be united till your in jers get so numb you can no longer mike figures. Below they down and the particular trust to memory till you become unconscions.

A PATRETIC FINELL.—Tuesday atternoon there filed down Second street from Lincoln, a little funeral procession consisting of a middle-aged man and woman it the lead, four loughly-clad boys carrying a little coffin on their shoulders, and wearing around one arm a bit of while cottoning, and a man carrying a spade. That was all. The weather was a dreaty combination of wind, snew and train. This coffin contained the remains of the obly child of Wm. Fatterson, a bricklayer, the last of three which he had lost within six months. Slowly the procession entered the Evangelical Mission chapel, corner of Second and Mill, where the paster, Rev. C. J. Miller, epoke words of comfort and offered prayer. Then an express wagen drove up, the remains were lifted into it, and the paracter took seats with the driver. The minister and grave-digger tollowed in a buggy, the boy pall-bearers dispersed, and the two rehicless carried for the burying ground on Mount Zion. Here the parents waited until the grave was dury and the, remains of their inst chik laid in their final resting place on earth. It seemed strange and indeed ead that in this city of plenty there should have been lacking the ordinary surroundings of a funeral; but if there had been a beautiful wiffs heares, and loads of flowers, and a churchtal of corrowing friends, and a long procession of carriages and munic by trained voices, would the parants grief have been less?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE ORGONIAN:
Please allo vine space to assert that the pro-

Please allow me space to assert that the probibilionists of Oregon are not to blame for the failure of Dr. Watts' license bill in the togiciative and do not rejoice in its defeat, The Oregon are not to blame for the failure of Dr. Watts' license bill in the togiciative and do not object in the defeat, The Oregon favor the cymplete overthrow of the liquor traffic, they do not object to any measure that will in any degree close even one cross-roads calcon. I know that the remark has been ende so often that the prohibitionists are in favor of tree whicky if they can not seeme their exhebits that it has gained a certain currency, but nevertheless it is not the fact.

Of course any one can see that the more high-landed the course of the liquor traffic, the more is cantends against. "regulating" legislation, the more supreme judges telectory dispractul means, the more in fact it seeks to defauch the ballot low and despubble decency, the more certain and swift will be the final verticat of the people for the utter, complete and absolute annihilation of the traffic. The Oregonian sees this and acouds the note of warning to the liquorites. But the evils of the liquor traffic have been demonstrated to a sufficiency, and it is unjust to assert that the mon who they bledged their life's work to its overthrow and desingtion, are in any sense its allass. We will accept high legence as a conficiant of the serventhrow and desingtion, are in any sense its allass. We will accept high legence as a conficiency and it is uprobibliory. The Watte bill would have closed accept high teemse as a temporary make-shift, but not as an end, and statistics only show that high licetise is beneficial to the extent that it is prohibitory. The Watts bill would have closed a few salopas in country places and for this crumb we would have been thankful, but would not. Will keep up the fight for the whole loaf.

Just one fict more. Any man can see that a specual election to settle the prohibition anesther.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPS.

Just one fict more. Any man can see that a special election to settle the prohibition question is not in the interest of the prohibition question is not in the interest of the prohibition party as a party, and it its members were blinded by partisan scal, as are the members of the old parties, and not engaged solely for the advancement, and preservation of humanity, there would not have been the pressure brought upon the legislature by all the means and indicates of the third party men to have had a special election. I look upon the prohibition party as adisturbing element in the politics of the country that will make men think on this question whether they wish to or not. It is the educative force of the whole temperanes movement, and whether it ever succeeds in securing control of the government is a matter of secondary importance, as its ultimate aim of complete state and national prohibition is certain of accomplishment.
